AMY & BRIAN LESSGINER RECEIVE COVETED AWARD

(Reno, Nev.) – Amy and Brian Lessinger have been awarded the coveted Nevada Broker/Owner of the Year award from RE/MAX International. The dynamic duo received the enviable award after just two years heading up the Reno office of RE/MAX Realty Affiliates. Nominated for their excellent leadership and the company's high sales volume, the Reno couple exemplifies the RE/MAX standards.

"We are absolutely thrilled to have received the recognition. We are amazed and honored to have been chosen from amongst the very deserving candidates of Brokers who embody the RE/MAX philosophies," said Amy Lessinger, Broker/Co-Owner of the RRA Reno office.

The Lessingers joined John Fisher of Gardnerville to open the Reno office in July 2005. Since that time, the office has grown to 115 REALTORS and is recognized as the second highest producing office in the region by the Northern Nevada Multiple Listing Service. The Lessingers believe that by expanding the RE/MAX brand in Reno/Sparks, they offer the market more opportunity for professional agents looking to take their business to the next level.

As one of the youngest Brokers in the RE/MAX system, Amy has been personally recognized by the real estate leader for her innovative training and managerial style. While Amy manages the day-to-day operations of the office, husband Brian focuses on business development and sales.

The Lessingers support their Agents with leadership, knowledge of the industry, providing a cutting-edge office environment and are strong advocates for industry education. They appreciate just how important effective and relevant training is to lasting success.

"Through dynamic RE/MAX education programs, each agent is afforded the very best training to continue building their businesses," said Amy Lessinger.
