FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

RE/MAX Realty Affiliates Agent Mignon Lagatta Earns CRS Real Estate Designation

Reno, Nev. (January 2, 2019) – RE/MAX Realty Affiliates (RRA) agent, Mignon Lagatta, has recently earned her Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) designation, awarded by the Resident Real Estate Council (RRC). The CRS designation is the highest designation awarded to sales associates in the residential sales field.

Lagatta is a proud native Nevadan and grew up in the world of real estate, with her mother owning her own Real Estate brokerage in Carson City. As an agent, Lagatta strives to deliver personalized attention to each client, ensuring that their real estate goals are achieved throughout the entire process. In addition to her new CRS designation, Lagatta is also a Certified Distressed Property Expert (CDPE), a member of the Northern Nevada Association of Realtors and a member of the National Association of Realtors.

“I’m proud to see Mignon succeed as an agent at such a high level,” said Amy Keith Lessinger, broker/owner, RRA. “This is a big accomplishment for Mignon and I’m happy to see her gain the recognition she deserves through her dedication and hard work.”

In order to gain the CRS designation real estate agents need to complete one of two paths by either completing 60 transactions or $30 million in volume over the last 3 years and complete 30 hours of RRC education or have worked ten plus years as a licensed real estate agent, completed 150 transactions total and 16 hours of RRC education.

“Earning this designation is a testament to my customer service philosophy,” said Mignon Lagatta. “I listen to my clients, use my knowledge and expertise to assist them in achieving their goals and dreams while managing the real estate process. It’s what I enjoy most about my career in real estate.”
